DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election with traverse of Group I in the reply filed on May 16, 2006 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that the other groups are subcombinations of the first. This is not found persuasive because applicants have not point out any error(s) in the restriction. Moreover, as discussed in the previous office action the other groups are more than subcombinations of the first, since they claim different products, i.e. a paper web, a slurry for cigarette a feed stock and a system. The claims have some limitations that are common to them, but they claims contains limitations that are not in the other claims and that make the groups different, see previous action.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

As to the Burden of search, the MPEP 803 states:

"For purposes of the initial requirement, a serious burden on the examiner may be prima facie shown if the examiner shows by appropriate explanation of separate classification, or separate status in the art, or a different field of search as defined in MPEP § 808.02. That prima facie showing may be rebutted by appropriate showings or evidence by the applicant. Insofar as the criteria for restriction practice relating to Markush-type claims is concerned, the criteria is set forth in MPEP § 803.02. Insofar as the criteria for restriction or election practice relating to claims to genus-species, see MPEP §806.04(a) - §806.04(i) and § 808.01(a)."

Applicant's arguments do not point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement

2. Claims 6-22 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected inventions, there being no allowable generic or linking claim.

Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in the reply filed on May 16, 2006.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

5. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gautam et al., US Patent No. 5,997,691.

Gautam et al. teach a method of making a web in which a base web is moved along a first path, a slurry of cellulosic material is prepared as and add-on to the base web; and repetitive discharging the add-on-material, see for example, paragraph bridging columns 2 and 3. In the same paragraph, Gautam et al. teach that the add-on material is discharged using a moving belt having an orifice along the endless path, same as claim 2 of the current application. Gautam et al. teach also the use of flax straw as the add-on material, see column 12, lines 43-57 and in the same paragraph, Gautam et al. teach that the add-on material is cooked, bleached and then grinded, i.e., refined. The only difference between the claimed invention and Gautam et al. invention is that the way in which the add-on material is ground, i.e., Gautam et al. teach a wet grinding process, while the present application teaches the dry comminution¹ of the add-on materials. However, using either process of grinding is within the levels of ordinary skill in the art, since both of them are very well known in the art. Note that if one desires to do the dry grinding operation, then the steps of pressing and drying the slurry are a necessary and also very well known in the dry market pulp. Wet and dry grinding are functional equivalent processes and it has been held that “[W]here two equivalents are interchangeable for their desired function, substitution would have been obvious and thus, express suggestion of desirability of the substitution of one for the other is unnecessary.” In re Fout 675 F. 2d 297, 213 USPQ 532 (CCPA 1982); In re Siebentritt, 372 F.2d 566, 152 USPQ 618 (CCPA 1967). With regard to claims 4 and 5, the steps of removing shives and contaminants from a pulp is very well known and necessary step(s) after the cooking of the pulp².

¹ For example of dry grinding operation see US Patent Nos. 3,596,840; 3,847,363; 3,987,969; 4,166,583; 4,191,335; just to mention a few. All of them cited on PTO-892, attached.

² See for example Chapter 9, Pages 98-132, of Handbook for pulp and paper technologists, 2nd edition, attached.
